INTRODUCTION

With the world facing one of the biggest global crisis due to the sudden and rapid spread of the novel coronavirus ("COVID-19"), many governments have imposed measures necessary to curtail the spread of the pandemic. COVID-19 measures such as lockdowns, social distancing, international travel bans and freight transport restrictions were imposed across ASEAN countries based on the contagion rates and healthcare capacity. While such measures were necessary to help stop the spread of the disease, it also had the effect of halting business activities, disrupting sectors and placing a lot of strain on sectors that rely on global connectivity.

To support the economy, government and central banks across ASEAN have eased monetary policies to support economic activity and assemble stimulus packages to sustain businesses and individuals during periods of lockdown or movement restriction. Stimulus packages allow for more opportunity to invest in the economic transformation and technological advancements needed to deliver sustainable development. Common measures rolled out across ASEAN include tax incentives for affected businesses, particularly for those in the most hard-hit sectors (tourism, hospitality and aviation), subsidies such as cash assistance, discounts on electricity bills, etc., deferred tax or loan payments and exemptions from or lower government fees and charges.

According to the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) the global battle for foreign direct investment will get tougher. There has been a global slowdown of foreign direct investment and COVID-19 has exacerbated the situation as it imposes further barriers to trade, investment and further pull backs of international production. As part of their stimulus packages, countries are also providing incentives to encourage the growth of investment into the region.

Furthermore, some ASEAN governments have introduced specific legislations to combat the effect of COVID-19 and lockdown measures in order to help revive their economy. Singapore introduced the COVID-19 (Temporary Measures) Act 2020 which seeks to offer temporary relief to business and individuals who are unable to perform their contractual obligations that are due on or after 1 February 2020 as a result of COVID-19. In Malaysia, the COVID-19 (Temporary Measures for Reducing the Impact of Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) Bill 2020 has been tabled in Parliament.¹ The Bill is aimed at supporting the stimulus measures as well as reducing the financial and social impact brought about by the pandemic. Philippine also introduced “Bayanihan To Heal As One Act” which granted the President temporary powers to implement immediate measures to address the COVID-19 pandemic.

This article provides a brief overview of the incentives and stimulus packages that have been rolled out in all ten ASEAN countries as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic with a particular focus on investment in the infrastructure and manufacturing sectors.

¹At the time of this publication, the Bill is still at the Parliamentary stage.

Calculated based on the project contract value, this project-level support is awarded to main contractors who are responsible for implementing these measures and support levels will be based on the project contract value as follows:

<tr>
<th>Project Contract Value</th>
<th>Support amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>

State financial policies in effort to stabilise the financial system in relation to the handling of the COVID-19 pandemic

COVID-19 specific incentives & stimulus packages for the infrastructure and manufacturing sector

While Brunei does not have specific stimulus measures for the infrastructure and manufacturing sector, the Government has announced interim measures to alleviate the financial burden for affected sectors (tourism, hospitality, F&B and air transport). The Ministry of Finance and Economy ("MOFE") announced targeted measures centered mainly around tax, utility and social security deductions/deferrals.

Generally, it is relatively easy to facilitate foreign investments into the Brunei market as there are no restrictions or institutionalised obstacles in place for foreigners. The economy is generally investor-friendly and the Government, by way of the MOFE, is currently and actively shaping strategic reforms aimed at attracting and improving inflows of foreign investments.

There is freedom of investment in all sectors, with the exception of certain fields in which local participation is required.

Ministry & Government Agency in charge

The two main authoritative bodies are the Ministry of Finance and Economy, and the Brunei Economic Development Board.

Restriction of movement of goods/people

COVID-19 specific incentives & stimulus packages for the infrastructure and manufacturing sector

Although there are no specific incentives and stimulus packages introduced in 2020, specifically in light of COVID-19 (to attract foreign investments and for infrastructure sectors), the Government of Cambodia, however, has put in place various regulations aimed at providing some relief for businesses to maintain their operation.

Manufacturing
The Cambodian Government has adopted and implemented the following measures:

- Sectors like the garment, footwear and bags are entitled to tax exemption/tax holiday for the period from six months to one year, if pursuant to the Ministry of Economy and Finance (“MEF”) assessment, the factories have been put in a category being adversely impacted due to the lack of raw materials as a result from non-operation of their suppliers.
- A temporary tax break for the registration of bag manufacture pursuant to Notification No. 002 and Letter 1313 dated 25 February 2020 issued by MEF.
- The garment sector has been accorded special treatment (pursuant to Letter no. 1314 issued by MEF) in order to help in lowering the logistic costs of those affected companies. Under the Letter, MEF will work with the General Department of Customs (“Customs”) to minimise custom procedures and clearance forms, by instructing Customs to conduct their inspection through post clearance audit method on the imported goods. MEF has also put in place legal measures governing the inflation and fake customs fees in order to ensure transparency.

Ministry & Government Agency in charge

- The Council for the Development of Cambodia

Restriction of movement of goods/people

Based on the information available, no direct restriction of movement of goods have been imposed by the Government despite the closure of the borders. However, the movement of goods is subject to certain rules. For instance, cargo trailers entering the border gates between Cambodia and Vietnam are subject to some measures such as switching drivers, truck cab and containers. The Vietnamese cargo trailers are also permitted to pass its dry ports provided that they wear a full anti-virus protective suit.

As for the restrictions on the movement of people (foreigners) into Cambodia, it is still unpredictable. Initially, with an effort to curb the spread of the pandemic, the government had issued a travel restriction to and from several countries including the United States, Korea and more. However, it had been lifted as the situation in Cambodia seemed to calm down. However, as the restrictions were lifted, there were numerous imported COVID-19 cases. In light of such situation, on 25 July 2020, the Ministry of Health of Cambodia, following the approval of the Prime Minister had issued an Announcement on the Temporary Suspension of Flights from Malaysia and Indonesia effective from 1 August 2020 (the “Announcement”). The Announcement does not specifically address the expiry of such restriction, meaning it will continue to be imposed so long as, in the Government’s view, it is necessary to safeguard public health. For other Foreign Travellers who are investor-business persons, company staffs, expert, skilled workers, technicians and their family members (“Foreign Travellers”), they are now able to travel to Cambodia subject to certain measures such as quarantine, provision of certain amount of deposit as determined by the Government based on the category those Foreign Travellers fall into, health certificate and relevant insurance.
COVID-19 specific incentives & stimulus packages for the infrastructure and manufacturing sector

The Government is currently focusing on stabilising the economy by introducing measures or packages that have limited implication and applicability, such as:

- postponement of financial filing period;
- encouraging commercial banks to provide loan to the business sector by reducing policy interest and granting other incentives to banks;
- postponement of profit tax filing period in tourism industry;
- postponement of period for filing social security contribution as employer;
- exempting salary tax for a certain period; and
- allowing employers to restructure their workforce.

Ministry & Government Agency in charge

For general incentives under the Investment Promotion Law, the Ministry of Planning and Investment is the main supervisory authority.

Tax-related incentives however are usually managed by the Ministry of Finance and its relevant offices.

Restriction of movement of goods/people

The Government closed international and customary borders, until 31 August 2020. Nevertheless, expert, technical staff and required labour may apply for special approval to enter following the procedure of the National Taskforce and Ministry of Foreign Affairs.
